

CONTRACTOR ORIENTATION WORKSHOPS

WRCOG's Energy Efficiency and Water Conservation Program for Western Riverside County will allow home and business owners to finance energy efficiency and water conservation improvements through low-interest financing that will be repaid over time through property tax payments. WRCOG is sponsoring this Program, supported by California law, that allows local jurisdictions to enter into contractual assessments with property owners for such improvements.

Who should attend? Residential and commercial contractors that install energy efficiency, renewable energy, and water conservation improvements and installation services for residential and commercial property owners. Contractors who attend these workshops will be advertised on the Program website.

These FREE contractor workshops will train contractors on this new Program. Businesses and contractors will learn about:

- Participating jurisdictions
- Eligible participation requirements
- What is needed to participate
- Eligible improvements
- How to assist property owners in applying

Seating is limited!
Must register to participate!
